BUILDING TRADES

Industrial Development Agencies are an economic development scheme that should promote job creation and business retention in our communities. When abused, however, IDAs waste taxpayer dollars and do not provide a good return on our public investment, while placing local property taxpayers at risk for questionable business ventures. Should IDAs be more closely monitored and do you support adding “clawback” provisions when IDAs do not live up to their agreements?

Do you support a prohibition on contracting for goods or services unless a bidder provides for the prevailing wage and why?

Project Labor Agreements are comprehensive agreements between a municipality and/or developer and a jurisdictional Building Trades Council that set requirements for a building project. PLAs save money by guaranteeing no strikes or picketing, that correct wages are paid, and that unscrupulous contractors won’t victimize the project. PLA projects guarantee unions will work together so the project is of higher quality, are usually finished on or before schedule, use community labor and are often below budget. Are you for or against project labor agreements and why?
